

Ancient Roman Glass Beads

Authentic Ancient Coins and Artifacts for Sale. Los Angeles, California USA

My name is Gabriel Vandervort, and I began buying and selling ancient artifacts in the late 1990's, born from a lifelong passion for ancient history. What began as a small local business now is worldwide... I work with museums, universities, institutions, auction houses, galleries and collectors in 40 different countries across the globe. I specialize in genuine ancient artifacts for sale at very reasonable prices, with a primary specialty in ancient Roman coins, Greek coins, and Roman and Egyptian artifacts.

My artifacts are all authenticated and legally acquired, and come from old collections, museum deaccessions, auction houses and institutions throughout North America, Europe and Australia, and I stand by my coins and artifacts with a 100% guarantee of authenticity. With an over 95% return customer rate, I pride myself in honesty, quality, and great customer relations!

Gabriel Vandervort, Owner, Ancient Resource

About Gabriel Vandervort and Ancient Resource

For three years before entering into this fascinating world of ancient artifacts, exploration and travel, I was a producer and writer for History Channel documentaries. I soon became the "go-to guy" for ancient history documentaries, including The Apostle Paul, Saint Peter: the Rock, The Twelve Apostles, and the series The Most. After leaving the production world in 2002 I began developing my own business before launching it in 2004.

I began Ancient Resource as an outlet for my love of antiquities and ancient history. I feel honored to be able to expose people to authentic artifacts of the ancient world, teach them about the history of the world at the time, and help them connect, through physical artifacts and coin portraits, with the heroes and villains of ancient history. I enjoy speaking at schools, bringing coins and artifacts for the children to touch and hold. I see this as a rare and beautiful way to bring the often-intangible subject of history into their very hands.

In late 2004, I set off on a month-long expedition through Egypt and Jordan with my two good friends Kelly and Michelle Ramage. Every day was an adventure-- we avoided the "beaten path" and overly-touristed locations and instead stuck to ancient maps and writings to find our destinations.

Gabriel Vandervort

Ancient Resource - I Do Buy Some Ancient Artifacts

I only buy certain ancient artifacts, if they meet these criteriae:

1. The item must be owned legally, having been exported from its country of origin prior to 1970 and the UNESCO treaty.
2. Paperwork, documentation, auction records, receipts or official export documents must be provided.

Artifacts from these countries are especially restricted, and absolutely no exceptions will be made to the above criteriae:

Egypt, Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Cyprus, Syria, Greece, Italy, Mexico, Peru, all other Latin American countries, all other Arab and UAE countries, any country suffering political unrest, looting or cultural property protection issues.

* I do not do free appraisals of artifacts or collections. My time is extremely limited and I am usually found juggling multiple tasks and projects entirely on my own here. My apologies for this.

Ancient Egyptian Artifacts for Sale

All my Egyptian artifacts were legally exported from Egypt prior to the 1970 UNESCO treaty, and my policies comply with all international trade laws regarding antiquities. The items are legally and ethically acquired, coming from old American and European collections and auctions. Provenance is not always listed in every item description due to restricted space, but is provided on the certificate of authenticity that accompanies each item. Enjoy!

Ancient Jewish / Hebrew Coins

These coins were minted and circulated during the time of Josephus, the Jewish War and the standoff at Masada. Holy Land, Judaea. First Revolt, Bronze Prutah. Year 2 = 67-68 AD. Two handled amphora with broad rim and two handles, ancient Hebrew inscription "Year Two" / Grape leaf on small vine, "The Freedom of Zion" in Hebrew. ref: ref: Meshorer 196; Hendin 1360. A spectacular, beautiful collection! Ideal for a Bar or Bat Mitzvah or Hanukkah gift!

For more information please visit

<http://www.ancientresource.com>